On account of rains but little farm work has been done in this county. Only a few acres have been broken for corn and a less number for oats. It is said that the act of shooting Mr. Joshua Murrell, in Green county, last week, was a great outrage, and that the guilty party, when caught, will be severely punished. It is reliably reported here that the man who did the shooting was on the hunt of some one, and when he met Mr. Murrell he leveled his gun, but was repeatedly told not to shoot, as he was mistaken in the man. Mr. Murrell is not yet out of danger, and the guilty has not to our knowledge, been arrested.

WHO IS SHE?

"Special Pension Commissioner Cutler has been ordered to Columbia, Ky., to examine a claim filed by a young widow for a pension on account of her husband, who died two years ago, having fought in the regular army in the war against the Seminole Indians in Florida.

"It is rather a trite saying that pensioners never die," remarked Mr. Cutler at his office in the Federal building yesterday, "and even when they do die, they are rather more apt than other men to leave widows and orphans.

"Now, this war ended in 1838 or '39, but the soldier in question died only two or three years ago, leaving a young widow to the care of the Government. Should she remain a widow, and live as long as her husband did, Uncle Sam will be providing for her along about the year 1950."—Louisville Herald.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

Last Friday night as Miss Ola Wilson and Mrs. Mary B. Dunbar, of Creelsboro, who is visiting here, were on their way to church, the latter met with a very painful and serious accident which will keep Mrs. Dunbar confined to her room for several weeks. Just as the two ladies passed through Mr. Wilson's front gate Mrs. Dunbar slipped and fell, breaking her left leg below the knee. Mrs. J. H. Grady and W. R. Grissom were called and reduced the fracture, and at this writing the patient is resting easy.

In another column will be seen a true picture of Red Lexington, the fine combined stallion of Coffey Bros., of this town. The people in this immediate section are well acquainted with the chief feature of this valuable horse; they are not strangers to the fact that he is one of the most promising individuals of that great family of horses, Lexingtons, that has so thoroughly impressed the entire country with superb qualities and worth. They appreciate Red Lexington for what he is and for his pure and unadulterated blood—a perfect type and the purest Lexington now living—a true descendant of one of the greatest families of horses ever known in this State. You must see the horse and see him move to appreciate him but his pedigree bespeaks his worth. Coffey Bros. have never bought common stock; they are advocates of the best blood coupled with superb individuality and their experience and knowledge is a safe guarantee when they say that Red Lexington is the greatest horse and the purest blood they ever owned. It is useless for us to compliment these young men. They are known to be competent, reliable business men, trustworthy in every particular. They have carefully sought to find a great individual with the richest strains of blood, for several years, to place at the head of their stud and not until Red Lexington was secured have they been contented. Read their advertisement and do your own figuring.

A young cyclone passed over Adair county about 5 o'clock last Tuesday afternoon. Fencing was scattered in every direction and many trees were blown down, but no one in the county was hurt so far as we know. In Taylor county a young man named Bridgewater, was struck by lightning and instantly killed. The Spectator office in Columbia was the greatest sufferer here. The wind blew out one of the back windows and the door leading down the front steps was closed and when the current got into the room there was but one escape through, the skylight. The glass was about one-quarter of an inch thick and it was broken into hundreds of pieces, letting in the rain. The money damage to the office was not great, but the worry and trouble to the proprietor and force was not a little. The next day the office was put in protection against rain and a new glass ordered.

To the citizens of Adair county: The undersigned are in the tombstone business at Campbellsville, Ky.
